

Email newsletter covers robotics and automation

MachineBuilding.net, the website for people who specify, design and build robotic applications, industrial automation and special-purpose machines, is offering members of BARA free subscriptions to its monthly email newsletter. The newsletter is published on the first Wednesday of the month and is sent only to registered readers.

As with the website, the newsletter covers a wide variety of topics, including robots, drives, controls, machine safety, motors, sensors, pneumatics, aluminium frameworks, software, standards/regulations and much more. See the full list at <http://www.machinebuilding.net/co/catindex.htm>.

Each month the newsletter contains the editor's selection of the most useful, innovative and interesting news. The user-friendly design makes it quick and easy to read, with links to pages on the MachineBuilding.net website for more information.

Register now at <http://www.machinebuilding.net/register.htm>.

Issued by

Jonathan Severn
Editor

editor@machinebuilding.net
<http://www.machinebuilding.net>